

PBS Success Story

When one of the largest PBS stations in the United States needed quality onsite training and support for their intranet system, where did they turn?

Maccimizer, of course.

We have been using the intranet/email system used by this, and every PBS station nationwide since 1992.

We were able to provide them with quality onsite training for their administrative staff, along with follow up phone support after the training.

For more information about our quality training services, or about the system that links the entire PBS system together nationwide, contact us today.